PESHAWAR

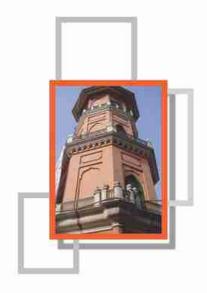

Peshawar is the capital of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa and the administrative centre and central economic hub for the Federally Administered Tribal_Areas of Pakistan. Peshawar is situated in a large valley near the eastern end of the Khyber Pass, close to the Pak-Afghan border. In the last three decades, there has been a significant increase in urban population, in part due to internal migration of people in search of better employment opportunities, education, and services.
